Student Application Process:

The process for individuals to submit their applications to secure a place at IPC will follow a clear process of:

1 – Submitting an EOI.

An EOI will be submitted, with candidates outlining why they are applying, what makes them an excellent student and how this will develop their skills for a career in the creative industries and/or cultural sector. Flexible and creative applications will be encouraged, including videography, face to face and written submissions, in keeping with the holistic learning championed at the IPC.

2- Shortlist.

Will be undertaken by Magna Vitae in collaboration with the IPC.

3 – Invitation to meet and present.

Candidates will be invited to meet and pitch to a panel comprising of Magna Vitae, the IPC and local employers. Again, this will follow a flexible and informal format, enabling the nuances of individuals to be showcased, ensuring opportunities can be maximised.

4 – Individuals will be selected by the panel, using a scoring and evaluation process.

Where the number of outstanding applicants exceed the number of places available, candidates will automatically be shortlisted into the next round of applicants.
